

Dr Paul Toyne – expert conference chair and independent chair for private meetings

Paul is a much sought-after chair of conferences, workshops and private meetings. He can either support the whole event management which includes advising on the content and format, selection of speakers, managing speaker content to ensure the sessions flow with presentations, debate and the use of technology: Or he can just up and chair on the day. Paul is especially good at engaging with the audience maximising delegates' experience.

Paul also provides independent chairing and facilitation for private meetings. Often a client wants to explore an issue and wants to contribute so needs a neutral and respected independent chair, which is Paul step in. Paul chairs the meeting allowing this to happen. Again, because of Paul's expertise and broad background he is comfortable in most situations. Topics that Paul has recently chaired include 'the role of the River Thames for future transportation', 'quality house building' and 'responding to the London Plan from a resource management perspective'.

Clients include: Ecobuild, Volvo Group, Anglian Water, Wilmott Dixon, Cory Riverside Energy, BRE, London Borough of Bexley, Cygnus Homes, Peabody, TEPFFA and CIFF.
